Wellbeing and Public Policy: A Contextualist Approach

June 9, 2022

12 pm EST

DR. MARK FABIAN

DR. MARK FABIAN is senior lecturer and deputy director at the Institute for Social Change in the University of Tasmania. He is also an affiliate fellow at the Bennett Institute for Public Policy in Cambridge University. He was previously a Fulbright Scholar at the Brookings Institute in Washington, D.C. His first book, Theory of Subjective Wellbeing (Oxford University Press), is forthcoming.

This presentation will review different conceptualizations of wellbeing and tease out some of their implications for policy, especially in terms of measurement and evaluation. It will then present an argument for a contextualist understanding of wellbeing for public policy and sketch what this would look like.
